Hancock District Judge

Supreme Court removes Anderson

By BRENT MACEY
The Mississippi Supreme Court Wednesday ruled to remove Hancock County District Judge Lloyd W. Anderson from office.

The order is effective upon being filed by the court, according to Brantley, director of the Mississippi Judicial Performance Commission.

Brantley stated Wednesday afternoon he thought the ruling was already filed.

He noted the commission recommended the Supreme Court remove Anderson from office last October.

Anderson was unaware of the Supreme Court's decision when contacted by The Sea Coast Echo late Wednesday. He had no comment at that time but later telephoned and said he felt the Supreme Court action was unjust.

"I think the people of Hancock County will know what is going on," Anderson said.

"It started as a conspiracy to get me out of office and it worked," he said.

Brantley noted the commission's recommendation to the Supreme Court followed an investigation by a commission staff earlier that year.

"Briefs were filed and an oral argument (before the Supreme Court) was held in October," he said.

"To a degree the investigation involved (Rayborn) Silkwood," Brantley said about a former Mississippi Highway Patrolman who was relieved from duty for allegedly writing several thousand unwarranted speeding tickets in 1979 to motorists passing through Anderson's district.

Most of the Silkwood cases were heard before Anderson who received $10 for every case handled.

However, Brantley said, "Mostly the investigation was concerned with monies and such...to see if Anderson collected more money than he reported to the county."

The Supreme Court ruling agreed with the commission's findings that Anderson "converted $214 in public money to his own use" and did not account for all fines imposed. The actions violated the code of conduct for judges in the state, the ruling states.

Anderson Wednesday stated he never received more tickets "than any other judge" when Silkwood was a patrolman.

Anderson claimed the Highway Patrol put "pressure" on the Supreme Court Justices "to justify removing Silkwood."

He implied that the judicial commission and the Audit Department were also involved in the "conspiracy" to remove him from office.

Anderson stated he thought the Audit Department was "embarrassed" following a trial last year in Hancock County Circuit Court which found him innocent of embezzlement.

Anderson was indicted by a January 1981 term of the Hancock County Grand Jury for embezzlement of $155 following an investigation by the State Audit Department.

"I really don't think it's fair," Anderson said.

"I had my day in court and I was acquitted," he said about that Circuit Court trial.

He stated the commission staff investigation was conducted before the trial.

And Anderson said he did not have any witnesses when he appeared before the Supreme Court in October.

"I only answered questions," he said.

The commission investigation was conducted with the cooperation of both the Mississippi Highway Patrol and the State Audit Department, Brantley said.

Evidence ruled insufficient

Ladner forgery charges dismissed

By BRENT MACEY
Circuit Court Judge Leslie B. Grant ruled Tuesday that not enough evidence was presented by the state to make a sufficient case against John V. Ladner, Hancock County Board of Education commissioner, accused of forgery.

The case was discharged before the jury ever deliberated.

Ladner had been indicted by the January 1981 term of the Hancock County Grand Jury on two counts of forgery in connection with emergency repairs to a tornado-damaged Gulfview Elementary School.

He was charged with illegally endorsing and cashing two checks totaling $4,840 in the name of Tommy Lane for repairs to the school.

During the trial, more than a dozen witnesses testified including officials from the Hancock County School District and investigators from the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and the Mississippi State Highway Patrol.

When the defense and prosecution each had rested their cases by 11:15 a.m. Tuesday, Defense Attorney Joe Sam Owen of Gulfport requested the case be dismissed on the grounds that Bay St. Louis attorneys Henry Cook III and James Tucker III who were appointed to prosecute the case for the state had failed to show a case of forgery or fraudulent intent against Ladner.

"They did not put one single witness on the stand who said that John V. Ladner did not have authority to sign those checks," Owen stated.

Throughout the trial the defense never disputed that Ladner signed Tommy Lane's name to the checks and then cashed them at the Hancock Bank.

Ladner, who testified during the first day of the trial, said Tommy Lane had given him the authority to sign the checks.

The prosecution attempted to prove that Tommy Lane was a "mythical character" who could not be located.

However, Ladner, his son Byron Ladner, and Suzanne Nécalse, a friend of the family, testified Tommy Lane was friend of the Ladner family who lived and worked with Byron Ladner on a ranch in Texas several years ago.

They stated Lane came to live with the Ladner family in Hancock County during the summer of 1980 and worked at Gulfview School at that time.

Owen claimed Lane was also known as Tommy Funderburk, and that he changed his name to Lane after his mother remarried.

Cook and Tucker called several witnesses to the stand, including Hancock Sheriff's Department investigators Delbert Seay and Alvin Ladner.

Both stated they had questioned Hancock Superintendent Billy Sills during their investigation into the emergency repair work in the fall of 1980.

Both investigators claimed Sills stated when he was questioned that Tommy Lane did not exist.

During the trial Sills and Woodrow Ladner, former president and current Hancock County School Board member, stated from the stand they met Lane at Gulfview when the school was being repaired.

Owen also argued that John Ladner never attempted to defraud the school board of any money.

He noted both checks, a $3,000 check and a $1,840 check, were approved and initiated by school architect John Mykolyk, Woodrow Ladner, and Sills before they were presented to his client.

Tucker, in a final argument to allow the trial to go to the jury, stated the state did not have to prove that Ladner attempted to defraud the school board members as individuals.

"If the school board went along with a fraud it can still be a fraud," he said. "The fraud in such an instance would be the school board's failure to act."

Also during the trial, Chancery Court Clerk E. Michael Nécalse and former Hancock Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, testified as character witnesses.

When asked by Owen if John Ladner had a reputation of truth and veracity, Nécalse replied "Yes, I think so."

Sylvan Ladner replied "yes" when asked the same question.

South Central Bell files for rate hikes

South Central Bell this week asked the state Public Service Commission for a 66 percent increase in its basic residential service rate.

The company also requested approval to change its method of billing for some of its services.

Approval of the request would mean the charge for residence one-party telephone service with one regular set would increase about $7.20 per month.

A one-party business telephone customer with one regular set would pay an additional $15.55 per month.

J. N. McGowen, company vice president, said that the effect of these increases on a specific residence or business customer would vary, however, according to the type and the amount of service used.

Effective with this filing is a request that local service rates be separated into charges for sets and for exchange access line.

Previously, the rate for local service included both access to the telephone network and a telephone set.

The company is also proposing to restructure and replace its intrastate

Wide Area Telecommunications Service (WATS), as well as proposing an increase from 10 to 25 cents in the charge for local calls from coin telephones.

The 10-cent rate has not been changed in 30 years, McGowen said.

Higher charges for service connections are included, as well as increased rates for miscellaneous equipment provided primarily for business customers.

If approved, the new rates would be effective May 7, 1982.

Waveland eyeing animal shelter

By WAYNE DUCOMBE JR.
Several Bay Waveland Humane Society members gathered Wednesday night to discuss the possibility of Waveland constructing its own animal shelter near the city's new treatment plant.

However, in the opinion of the members, Mayor L. B. Brantley, Jr. and the city council are not inclined to fund such a project. Brantley said the city's budget is "very tight" and that the city's financial situation is "very bleak."

Brantley said the city's financial situation is "very bleak" and that the city's budget is "very tight."

He noted Bay St. Louis has offered the majority of proposed shelter sites.

Edgar said, "Geographically we (the two cities) touch, but we're talking we are a million miles away."

Repair to close bridge

By EDGAR PEREZ
The Bay St. Louis automobile bridge will be closed Monday and Tuesday, April 19 and 20 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Wallace Emerson of Big Point, field superintendent for Kendall Construction Company of Pascagoula, said his company is under contract from the Mississippi Highway Department to repair the movable leaves of the US-90 bridge.

For some time, those movable leaves of the Bay St. Louis bridge would periodically stick in the open position, causing considerable delays to traffic on the highway.

In addition, Kendall has also contracted with the Highway Department to repair the US-90 bridge over Biloxi Bay.

That bridge will be closed for intermittent periods between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, April 14 and 15, Emerson said.

Both bridges will be open for normal use except during those times listed. Emerson added.

Traveling traffic through both bridges will not be affected by the repair work.

Moss Point man jailed in Bay store burglary

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A Moss Point man is being held in Hancock County Jail in Bay St. Louis in lieu of $20,000 bond and charged in a Sunday burglary of Redgio Ceramics in that city.

Assistant Chief Jerry Gremillion of the Bay Police Department, Monday reported that Gaines Zachary, 55, of Griffin Street was caught by Redgio Owner R.J. (Red) Reinke at about 7 a.m., allegedly stealing almost $16,000 in equipment and merchandise from the US-90 business establishment.

Gremillion said Zachary owns a ceramics business in Moss Point and had previously purchased items from Redgio.

The assistant chief noted Zachary was arraigned at 10 a.m. Monday before Bay City Judge Joseph Benvenutti and information about the incident will be presented to the County Grand Jury now in session.

"Zachary apparently stole about $15,843 in merchandise and was loading the items on a pickup truck at the west side of the Redgio building," Gremillion stated.

The assistant chief said Zachary apparently gained entrance to the building by breaking a window and opening a door, both on the west side of the establishment.

"After a brief altercation with Reinke, the Redgio owner was able to hold the man until police were summoned to the scene," Gremillion stated. Ceramic molds, gold leaf paint, brushes, decals, about $10 in change and a paper shredder from Redgio were among the items found in the Zachary pickup, the assistant chief reported.

"Zachary apparently knew just what to take," Gremillion said.

Patrolmen Wilbert Dorsey and Willie Harrington arrested Zachary at the crime scene, Gremillion added.

Investigator Larry Davis and the assistant chief are investigating the incident.

Chamber to select Secretary of Year

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce will honor area secretaries on National Secretaries Day, Wednesday, April 21 at a tea from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis branch of the Hancock County Library System.

National Secretaries Week, originated and sponsored by Professional Secretaries International, is observed annually the last full week in April with the intervening Wednesday designated as National Secretaries Day.

Purpose of National Secretaries Week is to increase public awareness of the vital role played by secretaries in business, industry, education, government and the professions.

"We are asking that area businesses send letters to the Chamber giving information about their secretaries and we are going to choose a Secretary of the Year who will receive an award at the tea," said Pat Harvill, Chamber special events chairman.

The deadline for receiving these letters is April 14, she noted.

"This tea is one way the chamber feels it can help give secretaries recognition for their contributions in all fields of business," she added.

Escapee captured in Slidell

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Hancock County jail escapee George Ben Smith, was captured by the St. Tammany Parish Sheriff's Office Tuesday night, according to Delbert Sany, Hancock County Investigator.

Smith, who was scheduled to appear before Judge Leslie Grant Monday, escaped from the Hancock jail sometime during the night of March 31.

He was arrested by the January Grand Jury and is being held in jail in lieu of $100,000 bond in connection with a January robbery and aggravated assault on a St. Louis double homicide.

The Hancock County Sheriff's Office tradition will be to release Smith to the Hancock County Jail.

Easter will be upon us in just a very few days and many preparations have been underway for Easter Sunrise Services. We are in hopes many will try and attend Sunrise Services if possible or at least go to church on Easter.

There will be several Sunrise Services in Hancock County and we will list the ones we know of as we write our column.

In Bay St. Louis, Sunrise Services will be held on the lawn of Christ Episcopal Church, 912 S. Beach. The services will begin at 6 a.m. and are cosponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Ministerial Association.

A 6 a.m. Easter Sunrise Service will be held at the Charles B. Murphy Athletic Field in Pearlinton.

It too will be a combined minister and choir service like Bay St. Louis.

The Diamondhead Yacht Club will be the setting for a Sunrise Service also at 6 a.m.

Dr. Joe Cothen, pastor of the Diamondhead Baptist Church will lead the service assisted by Father Austin Walsh of Annunciation Church, Kiln.

The Diamondhead Choir will be singing during the special services and coffee and donuts will be courtesy of the Purcell Corporation.

The Bay High Tiger Pride returned several hours earlier than first expected from their trip to the Cherry Blossom Festival.

Yet, there was a large delegation on hand to greet the very talented band from the Bay-Waveland area.

We began hearing of the exploits of the Tiger Pride Sunday morning as to how they were right up there with the best in the nation.

We think the achievements of the Tiger Pride are great. Mr. Page, Mrs. Hamilton, band members, band aides, Bay High, parents and the whole county should be congratulated on a job well done.

People will steal just about anything today, even things which are nailed down.

As we all know, Easter is a very big celebration in Christian Churches today.

This apparently did not daunt the intentions of the person or persons who removed a cross from the altar, the American flag and standard, and the public address system last weekend from the Presbyterian Church in Bay St. Louis.

It seems no place is sacred today, not even the churches.

We would like to urge anyone noting anything unusual while passing the Presbyterian Church last weekend to notify the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

We received a call early Wednesday morning from J.C. (Peck) Mauffray telling us of his former teacher and coach going to visit him today (Thursday).

John A. Farmer, who started teaching and coaching in the Kiln School System in 1928, was there for three years before moving to Amory, Miss. He later went into the ministry in South Carolina from where he has now retired.

Mauffray said he made contacts with Mr. Farmer several years ago when he had sent a letter to the Kiln Post Office and has been in touch with him since.

All the past students of Mr. Farmer are welcome to come by today and visit with him, according to Mauffray. He said he does not know the exact time his former teacher would be in but he would be happy to contact them when he got in if they gave him a call.

Mauffray's number is 255-1801. Just think, Mr. Farmer taught in the Kiln School System before we were born.

We speak of war and peace,
And good will,
Caring too,
But often limit
thought and practice to some and certain species.

One ought not pass any living thing Dead on the streets and think, "O just another one of those."

After all the Mystery is wrapped in fur as well as skin, and wherever Life appears there is need to honor protect and care. More: To some that little thing (or large) is comfort, companionship, help, a contributor to meaning.

"Dumb beasts" they say as if to excuse mistreatment, carelessness.
Other Creatures are not always smart.

They are not us, and we are not them (keeping the balance is essential). But some of us is in them, and some of them

Humane Society clarifies its role on Animal Control Commission

April 7, 1982
Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

As many people are confused by the Bay-Waveland Humane Society's role in the Animal Control Program, we of the society hope this explanation will help to clear any misunderstandings that may have arisen.

First: The Bay-Waveland Humane Society is composed exclusively of volunteers who receive no salary or compensation of any kind for their services.

As we are at this time a shelterless society our work is done in our homes. We have no paid employees.

The two animal wardens are the cities' employees.

The society's main efforts are a spay-neuter program, helping citizens with animal adoptions, assisting with indigent medical expenses, investigating and working with cruelty complaints.

Our income is derived from annual member dues, donations from individuals and organizations, proceeds from semi-annual fund raising activities which include rummage sales and dinners.

At one time the cities and Hancock County did give us donations toward the spay-neuter program but this was a one-time contribution and not a fixed source.

Another source of income is from our participation in the professional programs of both the Purina Company and Gaines.

We ask people to save product package weight circles and weight markers. We redeem them in certain amounts for either cash or animal food. The latter we use for animals we are forced to board with kind people who keep them until they are adopted.

Second: The Hancock County Animal Control Commission is, or was, a separate, distinctly different organization from the Bay-Waveland Humane Society.

The commission was a group of appointed volunteers whose sole duty was to serve as a hearing committee for the construction and maintenance of a tri-governmental animal shelter in Hancock County.

"Tri-governmental shelter" was a term coined to signify that Hancock County, Bay St. Louis and Waveland, had joined together to build and maintain one shelter that would serve the entire county.

The Bay-Waveland Humane Society's charter states that it was incorporated to aid and abet such a program.

The commission consisted of eight people—two appointees from each of the sponsoring cities, which meant that Hancock County, Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and the Bay-Waveland Humane Society each appointed two representatives.

The society's role on the commission was only one-fourth the strength of its appointees.

We hope this lengthy letter will sufficiently help to explain the society's part in Hancock County's Animal Control Program.

When the commissioners resigned some weeks ago the society was deluged with questions as to why it was disbanding.

We use this letter as a means of telling everyone that to the joy of our friends and to the sorrow of our critics, rest assured the Bay-Waveland Humane Society is still intact and going strong.

As long as Divine Providence continues to bless us, the Bay-Waveland Humane Society will serve Hancock County to the best of its ability.

'Despondent taxpayer' complains about county school funds management

To the Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Dear Sir,

I read a letter to your editor on January concerning Mr. John B. Budge's dismay at not having a high school on the southern end of the county.

I would like to take this opportunity to say that there are many things concerning our Hancock County School system that have dismayed me.

First of all, I'd like to say that our present Superintendent has received a 38 percent raise since 1980 in comparison to the teachers' 19 percent raise.

Not too many jobs are available today that allot an exorbitant increase in salary like this.

Secondly, our previous superintendent left $1.5 million in surplus funds and our school board members approved a resolution to build that new school on the southern end.

This resolution has never been rescinded, yet there is no indication that this is being done.

Then I read in the newspaper that our school officials are planning to construct 22 classrooms to alleviate existing overcrowded problems at the three county schools.

Last month Mr. Sills, our school superintendent appeared on Channel 13 news and reported that due to the lack of EFC funds the construction of these 22 classrooms would be impossible.

What has become of the $1.5 million?

We once had enough money to build a school on the south end and now it seems we barely have enough available funds for six classrooms.

To add insult to injury I read in the newspaper March 6, 1982 that the school board approved $6,000 of our tax money to defend their alleged mishandling of school funds as charged by the Attorney General's office, as a result of the tornado repairs at Gulf-

It amazes me as to how the school board can with a good conscience approve payment of two outside law firms in addition to the attorney presently being paid to represent the school board.

Why should our taxpayers' money pay for the results of their "grossly negligent and blatant unconcern" in protecting our taxpayers' money even though it is illegal?

However, what dismayed me most of all is that this $6,000 payment may just be the first of many payments from taxpayers' funds for their defense.

Taxpayers' this is money that should be spent on our children's education.

Despondent
Taxpayer and Parent,
Lennette Necaise

Waveland to construct county's largest water tower near US-90

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Waveland will construct the largest water tower in Hancock County in an almost $1 million water system expansion project.

The city's Board of Aldermen Tuesday night accepted preliminary plans and authorized advertisements seeking construction bids for the project which will upgrade water service in the US-90 business district. Bids for the system expansion will be opened at the board's May 4 meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Ray Eaton of Lewis-Eaton Partnership of Jackson, project engineers, explained the pumping capability of the city's well near the sewage treatment plant will be increased to feed two eight-inch lines leading to the water tower to be constructed on the north side of the highway near the Old Spanish Trail intersection.

The tower will reach 160 feet skyward with a 250,000-gallon tank on top of six steel legs fastened to concrete pads each supported underground by 14 40-foot foundation pilings, the engineer said.

There are no water towers of this capacity or height serving any cities or communities in the county.

Eaton estimated the tank alone would cost some $300,000 for materials and construction.

He noted the design costs less than a single-columned tank and is more resistant to hurricanes and tornadoes.

The engineer said cable will be laid along the well-to-tank water line to a control box which will automatically turn on the well pump when the tank water level is low.

Eaton also revealed plans for a 12-inch water main which will run eastward, cross under US-90, near the Bayview Motel, continue in the same direction to the east side of Nicholson Avenue where the line will again cross under the highway to serve the Choctaw Shopping Center.

The system expansion will allow operation of fire control sprinkler systems in shopping center buildings.

Water pressure will increase and fire insurance rates in the city will drop when the new system is operational, Eaton reported.

Waveland is funding the project with a $950,000 Farmer's Home Administration five percent loan secured by the board early last year.

Eaton reported FmHA loans are now offered at a 12 percent annual rate.

The engineer said the bid advertisement will include three alternate projects which would be a more complex control box to automatically regulate the city's present water 50,000-gallon tower and well, fencing around the new water tower, and a new chlorination unit for the existing tank.

He noted the alternates were previously included as part of the project, but inflated costs may prompt elimination of those items.

Mayor John Longo directed Eaton to add painting the city's name on the new tank as an addendum to the project.

The aldermen also accepted preliminary plans and authorized advertisements seeking bids a $120,000 library expansion project. Those bids will also be opened at the May 4 meeting.

Waveland's library on Coleman Avenue operated by the Hancock County Library system will be almost doubled in the expansion which will add a meeting room, lobby, kitchen and rest rooms.

The present two-room building will be renovated to form one reading room.

Eaton said also due to cost inflation, a drop ceiling with lighting, central air conditioning and new tile flooring and carpeting in the existing building will be advertised as alternates.

He reported increasing parking from six to 12 automobile spaces will be another advertised alternate.

"We did this to keep bids within the money limits you have now," Eaton stated.

Malandra, Ray Eaton of Lewis-Eaton Partnership of Jackson and Alderman Jack Toomey. The board accepted the plans and authorized advertising for bids which will be opened at the board's 7:30 p.m. meeting on May 4. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Mississippi Power files for May rate increase

Mississippi Power Company is seeking new retail electric service rates designed to increase revenues by approximately 7.15 percent annually.

The rate hike request has been filed with the state Public Service Commission, according to Alan Barton, company president.

The new rates, which will become effective May 5, are estimated to produce $21.9 million of additional revenues each year, of which approximately $9.1 million will come from industrial customers, $6.5 million from residential customers, $5.2 million from commercial customers, and the balance from other miscellaneous retail classes of customers.

Increases in customers' bills will vary from month to month depending on kilowatt-hour usage and the rate classification under which the individual customer is billed.

"It has been one and a half years since Mississippi Power sought an increase in retail rates. During this time, the costs associated with providing reliable electric service have continued to rise. For example, interest rates on the million of dollars we must raise for new construction to extend and improve service and to enhance the efficiency of our operation remain near record levels," Barton emphasized.

"Mississippi Power is not immune to inflation. The same economic problems besetting the manager of the family budget or the businessman on Main Street also are affecting adversely our costs of producing and delivering electricity. To cover the rising costs, it is necessary to increase revenues through higher rates for our service," he said.

Referring to the recent Chancery Court ruling on Mississippi Power Company's 1980 rate case, Barton asserted that "litigation is in process of being appealed to the Mississippi Supreme Court and it will be many months before a decision is reached. However, even if the company ultimately is fully successful in the appeal process, the rate filing will still be necessary at this time."

"We recognize that increasing the cost of our service is a difficult step to take, but we have no other choice. Mississippi Power must be financially strong in order to attract new capital needed to help pay for replacing outdated equipment, improving generating unit efficiency, and building new facilities that will be needed in the future," he stated.

"In the next decade, the amount of capital Mississippi Power must raise from investors to meet the electric power needs of southeast Mississippi—and to enhance the economic opportunities of its citizens will exceed that invested in the company over the past 57 years. To attract capital at a reasonable cost, Mississippi Power must have a history of financial stability," Barton stressed.

"While Mississippi Power experienced an improvement in earnings after the present rates were placed into effect in 1980, that trend has reversed and earnings have begun to decline noticeably. Without rate relief, this deterioration will become progressively worse."

"To maintain investor confidence, Mississippi Power must earn a return on investment at least equal to that of other businesses competing with us to attract the investors' dollars. Without this confidence, capital costs will increase and service to our customers ultimately will suffer," Barton concluded.

Dumestre said he urged Bennett to publicize the oxidation pond location, but the Bay mayor said "it was not necessary" since public land was involved in the project.

"All our discussion is premature unless we have a public hearing to talk about a proposed location with residents," Dumestre stated.

Longo reported he anticipated no objections from firefighters about the Waveland site.

Chief Don McIntyre noted his department would need enough property to safely conduct propane and gasoline fire fighting drills near the station.

Malandra noted the shelter would have to be accessible for animal adoptions on weekends.

Rosemary Malandra, a humane society member, reported a device would be needed to humanely kill mortally ill animals without an inhumane method.

Longo suggested unclaimed or sick animals be sold to Tulane University in New Orleans for use in scientific studies, but all the humane society members strongly objected to the suggestion.

Comiskey explained those studies require young and healthy animals. Rappold reported that LeBourgeois is drafting a detailed animal control ordinance to bolster the city's present laws.

Longo stated, "I'll give Larry (Bennett) a buzz. He may have something to offer."

In other business at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at City Hall, the board:

—Authorized increasing the city's general liability insurance policy from $300,000 to $500,000, water tower replacement and damage policy from $30,000 to $50,000, and increase the deductible amount on the tower coverage from $100 to $500. The board's action followed a presentation by David Treutel of Treutel Insurance Agency in Bay St. Louis;

—Authorized returning ownership of two lots in the Waveland Terrace Subdivision to Joe Harris since he paid some $501 in delinquent property taxes and eight lots to Morgan May for receipt of some $184 in delinquent taxes on the land;

—Accepted recommendations by the City Planning and Zoning Commission to allow Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Fleuriet at 351 Gordon St. a seven-foot side yard pickup trucks and hose for the fire department;

—Heard a report from Longo that the Skagerberg and a Dr. Black with neighboring property on Beach Boulevard;

NCAA BASKETBALL

Year after year I've watched the NCAA basketball finale with a certain amount of awe.

After all, you have two teams weary from a furious season, bathed in the intensity of television with millions of people watching, not to mention innumerable photographers and the rowdy, raucous fans that seemingly stand one atop another to catch a glimpse of the pinnacle of amateur sports.

But this year instead of simply watching the game, I attended it. About that event, a few observations:

(1) On Saturday, with little at stake besides outright elimination, the Final Four played lackluster basketball with little flamboyancy. And yet, allowing myself an occasional glance at the massive television screens suspended from the top of the Superdome, Musberger and Co. had fashioned a wildly intense television spectacular.

Utilizing present technology to its limit, CBS choked the telecast with running camera shots along stands filled with madly gyrating fans, close-ups of pretty cheerleaders and single shots of the coaches' reactions to good and bad calls by the referees.

It was very insightful to see the Big Game in all its immensity, and yet being able to view the manipulative powers of television as they made the game bigger than life.

(2) As for the controversial seating inside the Superdome, one thoughtful fan expressed it best when he said that if the game had been played in an arena that seated 20,000, he wouldn't be there.

Some 60,000 fans, give or take a few thousand, attended the game and the NCAA loved the ticket receipts. And even though some of the intimacy of basketball was lost inside the vast Superdome, the NCAA is seriously considering the Superdome for another championship game in the very near future.

(3) The final game, North Carolina vs. Georgetown, didn't need any of the television hype. It turned out to be one of the most intense championship games ever played with the outcome undecided until the last four seconds.

North Carolina finally prevailed 63-62. And although it was college basketball at its very best, CBS was still slaughtered in the ratings race by the Academy Awards on ABC.

OSCAR IN RETROSPECT
This was a year of nostalgia. All of the major awards celebrated a return to innocence.

For example, Chariots of Fire won best picture, to the surprise of many. Chariots was about a time in the world when good could triumph over evil, when ideals meant more than money or prestige.

In today's films we tend to glorify the anti-hero, Chariots of Fire may reverse that trend.

Also, Henry Fonda and Katherine Hepburn won best actor and actress awards, respectively.

Sentiment played heavily in these selections, because Hepburn just wasn't that good.

But the Academy couldn't bear the thought of breaking up a set like these two legends. For Hepburn, it was her fourth Oscar out of twelve nominations. For Fonda, it was his first acting Oscar.

Finally, Raiders of the Lost Ark won a multitude of technical awards. Raiders was also a celebration of the past. George Lucas and Steven Spielberg fashioned a rollicking film that patterned itself after the old cliffhangers, i.e. The Perils of Pauline.

You can bet we'll be seeing more adventures of Indiana Jones in the future. Especially since this film has taken in well over $100 million dollars since its release.

GRAND OPENING

The Bay-Waveland area proudly welcomes the new Cinema IV to town. Its grand opening is currently set for April 9 and if the exterior is any indication of what will be showing on the inside, we're all in for a big treat. Thanks for coming to town, we needed it.

The Mississippi Health Systems Agency, Inc. (MHS) has begun public meetings for Mississippians to elect representatives to the ten Subarea Advisory Councils (SACs) throughout the state with elections on the Gulf Coast set for April 17.

These elections are held to select consumers and health-care providers to the SACs. The SACs have a definite voice as to the increase or decrease of federal funds spent on health care for their respective areas.

These Subarea Advisory Councils are part of the Mississippi Health Systems Agency, Inc. (MHS), a non-profit, private agency.

Under the National Health Planning Law, (MHS) has a dual charge: to assure equal access to quality medical care and to control costs.

With the escalation of prices today, cost containment has been emphasized in three primary ways:

—1) certificate-of-need review for new facilities construction or equipment purchase;

—2) appropriateness review for existing facilities; —And 3) review of grant applications for proposed utilization of federal funds.

Each SAC is one of ten geographical subareas of the state, consisting of at least six and no more than fifteen counties. These election meetings are open to the public, and those attending will nominate and elect members to serve on the council for their subarea.

Nominations will be received from the floor for persons to fill specific provider and consumer slots. Voting will be done by a show of hands and the who of the election will be conducted in accordance with the MHS Public Elections Manual.

The members of the ten subarea advisory councils serve staggered three-year terms so that each year approximately one-third of the council membership will be open to election (or re-election in some cases). Additionally, some positions have been vacated and must be refilled through the annual elections.

Special rules for conducting SAC elections have been developed by the MHS from its experience with some sixty of these elections over the past six years. In essence, they follow relaxed forms of common parliamentary procedure, with the exceptions noted, and it is the policy of the MHS Board of Directors that the Presiding Officer of each election should construe the rules of parliamentary law liberally in favor of facilitating public participation to the extent that can be done without disrupting the election process.

It is not necessary for a person to know all of the special rules in order to participate. Keeping up with them and ensuring that they are followed is the responsibility of the presiding officer.

ARMOIRES REVEAL THEIR VERSATILITY

One of the earliest known pieces of furniture and one still in demand today is the armoire. It first appeared in the chateaux of France during the Middle Ages and was designed primarily to store armor (origin of its name), weapons and clothing.

On the contemporary scene, the armoire is proving its versatility by becoming one of the most adaptable pieces of furniture in the home. It can be placed in the bedroom for storage of clothing or linens, yet is equally suitable in a den or living room as a bar or entertainment center.

The piece's growing popularity is due to several reasons. With bedroom size shrinking, the armoire provides vertical storage and takes up less space than a dresser. An armoire's interior offers great flexibility. It can be outfitted with a variety of shelves, drawers and clothing rods. Or, if its main purpose is storage of stereo and TV, the back panel can be removed for easy access to electrical outlets.

Another reason for choosing an armoire is that it is an impressive piece of furniture that can be used as the focal point in any room. It fits easily into a hallway, library, dining room and even as the bedroom wardrobe.

Whatever the style of the armoire, country French, other traditional patterns, contemporary or Oriental design, one choice remains constant. And that is the use of hardwood. For long life as well as ease-of-care, an armoire in such hardwood as cherry, pecan, walnut or oak offers lasting pleasure.

Proper care for fine hardwood furniture is essential. There are just two easy-to-remember rules. Dust frequently with a clean, soft, lint-free cloth and once a year wax with either a liquid or paste wax. If you follow these directions, a hardwood armoire will give you years and years of wear and enjoyment.

Any questions on hardwood? Write to Linda Forrest, Hardwood Institute, 230 Park Ave., New York, NY 10017.

NSTL blind vendor termed inspiration to customers

Customers of the concession stand at the Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO) Building at National Space Technology Laboratories generally spare little time or thought for its cheerful young operator who usually manages to greet them by name even though unable to distinguish their faces, but if they did, they could hardly fail to come away inspired.

Superficially, Wayne L. Markos resembles many other young men—he's 30 years old, operates a successful business, has a home, a wife and two small children and is involved with church and civic activities in Long Beach.

But Wayne Markos is legally blind. In his thirty years he has known rejection, ridicule, despair and defeat; but he has also known victory—a victory doubly sweet since it was born of adversity. When Wayne was born in Vicksburg in 1951, he was almost totally blind.

The only hope the doctors could offer was that his vision would gradually improve until he was about 21 years old but the gain would only be 20 percent to 30 percent of total normal vision.

When he was a year old, his parents were divorced and Wayne was left in the care of his father, the operator of a well-known restaurant in Vicksburg who worked seven nights a week, slept during the daytime, and was forced to leave his son in the care of ever-changing baby sitters.

Not knowing that he was qualified to attend the Mississippi School for the Blind, Markos entered public school at the age of six.

His experiences with public schooling affected him profoundly. "My first three years of public school were disastrous," he said, "falling grades and stayed in one fight after another because the children made fun of my handicap. Then I was placed in a special education class with children who had different handicaps such as deafness, speech impairments, and learning disabilities. My teachers were not properly trained, so I did little else but play for the next few years. At the age of twelve, I dropped out of the special education class because they could find no one to teach it."

He finally learned that he was qualified to attend the Mississippi School for the Blind after he had stayed out of school three years. He entered the sixth grade at the age of 15 and spent the next three years getting his education. The quality of that education is best exemplified by Markos' own words: "I graduated when I was 22 with the knowledge that success comes from mastering defeat."

Upon graduation, Markos worked in several industrial plants before becoming a vendor at the Mississippi Research and Development Center in Jackson, a position he held for seven years.

"During this time he met his wife Carolyn, a USM graduate who is also visually impaired but to a greater degree. Since Carolyn is a native of Long Beach, the Markos decided to return to the coast to seek employment in order to be closer to home, church, and family."

When this independent business owner, Wayne L. Markos, began his business, he was inspired by the ability to handle difficult situations and different personalities.

Wayne Markos calls his past three years a challenge and a joy—the people at NAVOCEANO call them an inspiration.

Cooking up a Storm

You may be sure that with Good Friday approaching, I'm already thinking about my "lucky dish" for the day—"Gumbo Z'Herbes"—the old-time Creole conglomerate of herbs and greens, traditionally served on Good Friday to ensure good luck in the coming year.

There was also an old superstition that, for each green in the gumbo—there had to be at least seven—you'd make a new friend in the coming year.

I well remember as a child the trips with my grandmother Barrett to the Old French Market in New Orleans' French Quarter, especially just before Eastertime. The men at the vegetable stands, as well as the street hawkers, were in full voice, crying, "Get your greens, lady, get your greens...I got 12 greens...I got seven greens," and so on, whatever the number of herbs and greens on hand.

Of course, the "green gumbo" was eaten on other Fridays as well during Lent, and now is found year round on many a table. The old-time Gumbo Z'Herbes (a contraction of Gumbo aux Herbes or Gumbo with Herbs) contained no meat, in accordance with strict Lenten rules, but nowadays bacon or ham or such are used to flavor the greens.

And, of course, these modern days, you can cut the work down considerably by using frozen collards, spinach, etc., etc., and still have quite a good dish.

GUMBO Z'HERBES
1 bunch each of various greens; spinach, mustard or collard greens, turnip or beet greens

Several green cabbage leaves
Several carrot greens (tops) or radish tops
1 bunch parsley
1/2 bunch green onions (shallots)
2 quarts water
1/4 to 1/2 lb. ham, cut in small chunks
1 Tbsp. lard or shortening
1 bay leaf, crumbled
Dashes of crumbled thyme, cayenne and black pepper, sage
Dash of tabasco or 1 red pepper pod

Trim the greens, wash well (I like to chop them small at this time). Bring water to a boil in a heavy pot, toss in the greens by handfuls, reduce the heat and simmer for an hour or so, covered. Strain the greens over a bowl, reserving the liquid, and pressing down on greens with a large spoon.

Fry off the ham in the lard or shortening, add the chopped green onions and parsley, and cook for 5 minutes or so, then add the chopped greens and simmer over low heat for 15 minutes. Toss it all back into your original pot, add the reserved liquor, bay leaf and other seasonings, and bring to a boil, then turn the fire down and simmer 40 minutes to an hour longer.

And, as our family cook taught me long ago, I stir in a tablespoon of flour dissolved in a little cold water, just at the end, for a creamy sort of taste. Serve in soup bowls, of course, with hot French bread.

P.S. Don't forget to plant your red beans on Good Friday, for additional luck throughout the year! (Copyright, 1982, Katharine D.M. Caire)

Eagan, Stieffel score in Panama City event

By LEA C. McINTOSH
Bay-Waveland Yacht Club sailors Marc Eagan and Dennis Stieffel trekked to St. Andrews Bay Yacht Club in Panama City for the Flying Scot Mid-Winter Championship Regatta March 31 through April 4.

They sailed five races and won second place in the series. The BWYC Opening Regatta on Saturday, April 3 marked the official start of the 1982 sailing season.

Two Sunfish races were sailed - Adam White placed first in both, with Gordon Boh taking second place honors. The Handicap Class was won by Gene Taylor and second place went to Basil Kennedy.

Winds gusting to 34 mph caused Race Committee Chairman Walter Chamberlain to cancel all Flying Scot races.

Trophies for the races sailed were presented Saturday night at the opening banquet at the club.

Thomas Ehman, executive director of the U.S. Yacht Racing Union and three-time winner of the Flying Scot North American Championship, was banquet speaker.

The Annual Review of the Fleet, organized by Fleet Captain Pete Morrill, took place Sunday morning, April 4. Mrs. McAllister's Gulf Coast Dixieland Jazz Band provided foot-tapping music as the gaily decorated boats circled three times before the front pier.

Reviewing from the pier were Commodore Edgar Santa Cruz, Rear Commodore Charlie Heitkamp, Vice-Commodore Jack Bell, and Gulf Yachting Association Vice-Commodore Harry Chapman.

As the fleet paraded, the Goodyear blimp appeared over the Bay bridge, the band played "The Saints," and the Race Committee fired a salute to each passing boat.

A blue-ribbon panel of judges, comprised of Anne Chapman, Ray Robertson, and Suzanne Truett, chose Basil Kennedy's "Bug-A-Boo" as best decorated boat.

Kennedy clinched the title as he sailed past the reviewing pier once releasing hundreds of helium-filled balloons, then again throwing carnival beads and doubloons to the spectators.

Second place went to Jimmy Larroux in the "Keay," and third to Lucien Gex in the "Sue U."

Trophies were presented at a Jazz Brunch in the Club immediately following the Review.

A fourth trophy, the "Turkey Trophy," was presented to Wayne Murphy of Waveland whose 40-foot boat spent the entire parade aground at the mouth of the harbor. Murphy received a tin can of harbor mud.

FIGHTING FORM—Hancock Shotokan Karate student Radley Ladner faces a brown belt competitor from Monroe, La., during the 18th Annual All South Karate Championship at the University of New Orleans. Ladner took second place in both fighting and kata (form) at the tournament.

Hancock karate students place in tournament

Hancock County Shotokan Karate students in classes taught by Rennie Ladner in both the Kiln and Waveland recently placed in a 18th Annual Karate Championship conducted at the University of New Orleans.

Some 600 karate students representing approximately 50 clubs from Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Alabama and Florida competed in the event.

Eight-year-old Radley Ladner, a white belt Hancock student, placed second in kumite (fighting) in the pee-wee division which ranged from white to brown belt.

Ladner also placed second in kata (form) in his division.

Fifteen-year-old Elwin Perrot Jr., also a white belt from Hancock, placed third in kumite division which included some fifty other competitors.

In its 18 years of existence, the All South Karate Championship has enjoyed continued growth and popularity by providing a forum for challenging competition and demonstrations by martial artists, Hancock Instructor Ladner stated.

Ladner noted cooperative goals are stressed in the championship as well as competitive ones.

The tournament consists of two distinct types of competition, he said.

The first competition is known as kata. A kata is a pre-arranged series of movements representing defense against attack by more than one person.

The second phase of competition, kumite, is free sparring between two people. To win a match, one contestant must score three points. One point is awarded to a contestant who executes a strong, well controlled attack to a vital area of his opponents body.

Keesler sponsoring Special Olympics

Handicapped people along the Gulf Coast will have the opportunity to participate in a Special Olympics sponsored by Keesler near its inactive runway April 14.

The event will give between 350 and 500 handicapped children and adults from Waveland to Pascagoula the chance to take part in an olympic, even though they may not have qualified for the Mississippi State Special Olympics. About 75 dependents from Keesler will participate.

"We want to give everyone a chance to participate in the event and have a good time," said Lt. Larry Strawser, one of the project coordinators for the base. "Since this meet doesn't lead up to a higher level of competition, the participants won't be under any pressure, but will be able to enjoy themselves. Those who have qualified for the state meet will be able to use our olympics to practice for the event."

All the participants will receive a ribbon and a T-shirt, and the top three finishers in each event will receive special awards.

Besides the normal track and field events, there will also be special clinics for the participants to attend when they are not competing. Keesler people will be conducting clinics in gymnastics, basketball, baseball, and football throwing. There will also be two basketball games.

The idea for hosting a special olympics was first brought up by the Enlisted Advisory Committee at Keesler, but the magnitude of the project warranted the involvement of more organizations. It is now a base project overseen by a 25-member committee.

Among the more involved organizations are the Enlisted

Advisory Committee, civil engineers, security police, the Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division, the Junior Officers Committee and the center sports council. Money to support the event has come from the NCO Wives Club, the Officers Wives Club, the NCO Academy Graduates Association, the Air Force Sergeants Association and the Keesler Children Have a Potential group. Local vendors have also donated free soft drinks, hamburgers and chili.

About 750 volunteers are still needed, including assistant coaches, chaperones, guides, as well as others for cleanup and additional duties. Anyone from Keesler or the surrounding communities who would like to help make this event a success is asked to call Sgt. Paulette Wills at 392-9107 any time after 4:30 p.m.

Bulldogs break The River's winning streak

Pearl River College's eight game win streak came to an end in Perkinston Friday with heart-breaking 2-0, 3-2 setbacks to the league-leading Gulf Coast Bulldogs.

There was a lot more at stake in these arch-rival contests than just bragging rights. The Wildcats and Bulldogs entered the contest with perfect 4-0 division marks and the outcome now puts the Wildcats two games back in second place.

Ned Eades, rookie coach of the now 16-9 Wildcats, had hoped for at least a split with the 24-7 Bulldogs, winners of the Mississippi baseball crown 14 out of the last 15 years.

"I'm disappointed about losing both games, but I was extremely happy with our performance," said Eades. "Our kids showed me that we as just as good as Gulf Coast."

Pearl River will get another chance at the Bulldogs, but this time it will be here at home on the Wildcat diamond. "If we don't have a let down against the other division teams we'll have a chance to fight it out with Gulf Coast when they come to Poplar-ville," Eades said.

The Olympic games will continue to come to us as many young people as possible thanks to a major funding provided by the Olympic Training Center in Colorado.

William Simon, president, United States Olympic Committee, announced that "Miller High Life and the Miller Brewing Company have guaranteed a minimum of $2 million to be used for the 1984 Olympic Training Center through the 1984 Olympics."

According to Simon, "The Training Center concept is a bold approach to provide increased competition opportunities for athletes without regard to age or ability, including all athletes from novice to elite."

"Our goal is to expose as many of the youth of our country as possible to significant concepts in athletic training and development that the USOC is capable of providing," he added.

"Unlike other national Olympic committees of the world, the USOC receives no continuing subsidy from the federal government," Simon said. "We depend on the generosity of the American public and American corporations such as Miller for our financial support."

Bullock scores in district spelling

Recently, students at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlman participated in the American Cancer Society—Mississippi State Spelling Bee. Fifteen students in grades six thru eight raised money and took part in the school based spelling contest. Taking first place was Lamonica Bullock, a sixth grader. She is the daughter of Mrs. Earlean Burney. Lamonica placed fifth in the overall district competition.

WATERFORD TOUR—Pass Christian High School science students recently toured the nuclear power plant under construction at Taft, La. The tour was sponsored by Louisiana Power and Light Co. (Photo courtesy Pass-High) physics and chemistry students at Pass Christian High School recently traveled to Taft, La. for a tour of the Waterford Nuclear Power Plant.

The Louisiana Power and Light presentation lasted for two hours. Students learned about the plant's operation, safety procedures, and the role of the federal government in nuclear energy.

The students were able to walk through the reactor containment building, which houses the core and the steam generators, the electric generating portion of the plant and the central room.

The waste containment building was not included in the tour because it was being painted. The tour was preceded by a slide presentation and followed by a question and answer session.

The students' questions varied. Some centered on the disposal of nuclear waste.

The resident nuclear engineer stated that nuclear waste disposal is primarily a problem that the federal government has to deal with.

Concerning the problem of sabotage of nuclear waste, it would be extremely difficult for a would-be saboteur to approach any waste, because of its extreme toxicity.

The engineer stated, that if a bundle of waste were placed in a large field and a thief began to run towards it, he would die before reaching it, because of the radiation being emitted.

Questions also centered around evacuation, various safety procedures, the feed water cooling loops and plant life expectancy.

The Pass High students were possibly most impressed by the reactor control room where panels of lights, dials, gauges and switches monitor and control the entire operation of the plant.

Many of the chemistry and physics students at Pass High have done research projects on various aspects of nuclear power, such as plant design, nuclear waste disposal and safety.

Percy family papers go to State Archives

Presentation of the Percy Family Papers to the Mississippi Department of Archives and History was made in March by LeRoy Percy of Greenville; according to Elbert R. Hilliard, director of the Department. The Percy Papers, covering the years 1876 to 1940, include papers and correspondence of the late Senator LeRoy Percy; poems and letters of the late William Alexander Percy, author of Lanterns On The Levee; and records and correspondence relating to the Percy plantation, Trail Lake, in Washington County. Hilliard expressed appreciation for the new acquisition and stated that the papers shed important light on plantation management, Delta social life and politics, the 1927 Mississippi River Flood and the Greenville literary tradition, which owed much of its inspiration to William Alexander Percy. The papers will be open to researchers as soon as they are processed by the archives staff.

MOYERS AND LEAR—The first half-hour program in a two-part examination of the king of sitcoms, Norman Lear, can be seen at 7 p.m., Sunday, April 11, on the Mississippi ETV Network. On "Creativity with Bill Moyers," viewers observe how Lear and his associates translate ideas into such shows as "All in the Family," "The Jeffersons," "Maude" and "One Day at a Time." The story conferences with writers, the casting of actors, the directors' rehearsals—up to the last minute of taping before an audience—become part of a shared creativity in which every individual's idea is listened to and considered.

Spanish, French students study Cervantes, Exupery

Spanish classes at St. Stanislaus recently went to New Orleans to see a dramatization of Cervantes' Don Quixote. The play was performed by members of a national touring group, using a technique that enabled them to back up the action and give instant replays of a scene in Spanish or English. The group later had a Mexican dinner at Pancho's. The French classes also attended a dramatization of St. Exupery's Le Petit Prince which was performed by the National Theater for Performing Arts.

An instant replay was also used so that scenes were given in both French and English. The French students also toured the French Market and Jackson Square.

Mrs. Helen Currie and Brother Paul Mulligan accompanied both groups to New Orleans.

On March 6 the following students took the National French Examination: Nathan Champagne, Michael Doyle, Michael McMahon, Charles Schutt, Nathan Lew, William Stills, Paul Whittington and Frank Trudeau.

On March 27 the National

Catholic schools alumni set Biloxi antiques auction

The Sacred Heart and Notre Dame Alumni Association will sponsor an Art and Antique auction at Mary Mahoney's Old French House Restaurant on Sunday, May 30 beginning at 3 p.m. Victor Mavar, president of the association, said proceeds will be used for a scholarship and building funds at Mercy Cross High School in Biloxi. Mary Mahoney will serve as chairman of the event. Mavar stated, "We feel very fortunate to have Mary chair this project, as she has always been a booster of Catholic education in our community." Mahoney added, "I have wanted to get involved in an art and antique auction for a long time, and I feel that this will be a great success for a very worthy cause."

Anyone wishing to donate objects of art or antique pieces may call 374-0163. The chairman stated that these objects will be put on display in area business places prior to the event.

Perk Fine Arts offering comedies

The Asolo Touring Theatre will present "Chekhov and Moliere: Comedies of Courtship," on Monday, April 12 at 8 p.m. in Malone Hall at Gulf Coast Junior College's Perkinson Campus. The production is part of the campus fine arts series.

Kathryn Lewis, campus speech and drama instructor, said the performance includes "The Brute" by Anton Chekhov and "Sganarelle" by Jean-Baptiste Poquelin Moliere. Admission is $4 adults, $2 students.

"ATT selected these plays because of their classic nature and thematic relationship of love and courtship follies," Lewis explained. She added that although they were written 200 years apart, "They are well matched in comedy and content; and show that the human condition has not really changed over the years."

Cast members are Robert Caputo, Dee Delaney, Susan Klein, Joshua David Krassner, Robin Llewellyn and Stephen D. Root. Director is Christine Crawfis, with Donald E. Peterson as stage manager and Laura J. Hase, company road manager.

ATT, a nationally-acclaimed professional company, is marking its eleventh season. The company travels throughout Florida and the Southeast during its eight months on the road. In addition to GCJC's fine arts department, ATT is sponsored by Asolo State Theatre; the State of Florida, Department of State, Division of Cultural Affairs; National Endowment for the Arts; Southeast Banks; St. Petersburg Times and Evening Independent; and the State Theatre Board of Florida.

Bay Area students cited at regional science fair

Elementary students from the Bay St. Louis area recently won awards in the Region I Science Fair held at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Over 100 elementary schools from south Mississippi participated in the one-day science fair which is the largest event of its kind in the state.

Overall winners were: Class I, Layna McBroom, West Elementary in Moss Point for a project "Blood Groups and Blood Groupings" and Class II, Sammy Ryden, Charles Elementary in Pascagoula, for his project "Do Plants Have Feelings?"

Local children receiving awards in Class I (grades 1-3) were: Behavioral and Social Science: Honorable Mention, Joby Negase, Waveland; Math: Computers, Earth and Space: 4th, Art: Bailey, Waveland; and Honorable Mention, Mark Carter, North Bay.

Health: 5th, Jonathan Competta, North Bay; Botany and Microbiology: 5th, Yolanda Biles, Bay Jr. High.

"The projects seem to get better and more complex each year," said Don Barry Bellipanni, fair director. "Mississippi's science programs can compare with any in the U.S. and this reflects the excellence of our teachers through the work of the children."

Registration open in gifted program

Applications are still being accepted for the University of Southern Mississippi's summer residential studies program for gifted children.

The summer program, where gifted students in grades 5-8 live and study at USM, is designed to meet the unique needs of gifted students. The program is conducted by the Center for Gifted Studies in the Department of Special Education.

Understanding and developing leadership will be the topic for students entering grades 5-8. The course will analyze leadership traits and skills in a biographical approach to determine "What is Leadership?"

Seventh and eighth graders will define their own leadership styles and perfect them in "Extraordinary Leaders for Extraordinary Times."

The program will have two sessions: Session I, June 6-18; Session II, June 20 through July 3. The total cost of each session is $229. This cost includes tuition, room, board, field trip, recreational activities, and insurance.

Any gifted student entering grades 5 through 8 in the fall 1982 is eligible for the program. An IQ score of 120 or above on an individually administered intelligence test (WISC-R or Stanford-Binet) must be met.

Applications may be obtained through local school personnel or by contacting Dr. Frances A. Karnes at (601) 266-5236.

Mississippi Democrat event to feature Walter Mondale

Former Vice President Walter Mondale will be the guest of honor at the 1982 Jefferson Jackson Day Dinner, State Democratic Party Chairman Danny Cupit reports.

The dinner will be Friday, April 16 in Jackson at the Coliseum Ramada Inn.

The event will be the third since the party's annual Jefferson Jackson Day Dinner in July 1980.

The Jefferson Jackson Day Dinner, which has grown in significance and size since its inception, will be held at the former vice president's visit to Mississippi in 1976. Mondale, who was the Democratic Party's vice-presidential pick in 1976, is making a return visit to the state.

A native of Minnesota,

Mondale is a member of the Methodist Church and a member of the American Legion. He was born in the small town of Wadena, Minn., and attended Wadena College and received a B.A. degree in political science from the University of Minnesota.

He joined the U.S. Army upon graduation, entering as a private and emerging as a corporal.

Mondale was awarded an LL.M. degree cum laude in 1956 from the University of Minnesota Law School.

In 1960, Minnesota Gov. Orville Freeman appointed the then 32-year-old lawyer to the post of state attorney general.

Mondale was elected to that office in 1962, and in 1964, he was appointed to fill a vacancy in the U.S. Senate. He was reelected to the Senate in 1966 and 1972.

He was serving in the Senate in 1976, when he was per-nominate for the vice presidency on the Democratic ticket headed by the then former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter.

The Democratic nominees carried the State of Mississippi on their way to winning election.

Mondale is the author of 'The Accountability of Power: Toward a Responsible Presidency' and is currently devoting his energies to the work of The Committee for the Future of America.

Mondale is married to the former Joan Adams, who was very active during her husband's vice presidency in promoting the arts in America. The Mondales are the parents of three children. Tickets to the Jefferson Jackson Day Dinner are $100 per person and can be purchased from County Democratic Chairs, members of the State Democratic Executive Committee, or the State Party Office in Jackson.

Agriculture Today

by Ed Curran
U.S. Department of Agriculture

The differences between the way things are now and the way they were in 1973 tell an awful lot about what's happened in farming and food prices. That was the year so many older farmers sold their land—and so many young farmers bought it.

The older farmers sold, not because they were so old, but because they knew there'd never be a 1973 again. The young farmers bought because wheat averaged $3.95 a bushel, corn was $2.55 a bushel, milk was selling for more than $7.00 a hundredweight, and farmland was selling for $346 an acre.

The old farmers were right.

Especially when you look at today's prices. True, wheat prices went up. They averaged $3.96 in 1980. But they're below that today. Corn averaged $2.33 a bushel last time we looked. Milk was $14.10 a hundredweight and farmland was averaging $796 an acre, but not keeping up with inflation.

But there are some expenses that have risen, too. Those little 30-39 horsepower tractors that used to go for $4,500 are selling for between $9,360 and $10,900 today. Those 50-59 horsepower tractors that sold for $6,710 in 1973 are now going for $14,300 to $15,800. The 110-129 horsepower jobs, at $14,500 in 1973, are going for $32,200 to $37,600 now.

Pick-up balers, at $2,960 in 1973, are $6,200 to $7,700 now. The three-bottom plow, at $826 in 1973, is running from $1,940 to $3,160 today. The five-bottom job, which sold for $1,820 then, is $5,240 to $6,460 now.

Gasoline, at 37.4 cents bulk delivered then, is $1.18 now; diesel, at 28.3 cents a gallon then, is $1.03 a gallon now.

Some other things changed as well. In 1973, bread was 34 cents for the one-pound loaf. Potatoes were 10 cents a pound, tomatoes 35 cents a pound. Lettuce was 18 cents a head, oranges 90 cents a dozen. Sugar was 77 cents for the 5-pound bag. Milk was 65 cents a half gallon and coffee was $1.10 a pound.

Open a Hancock Bank Individual Retirement Account, and CUT YOUR TAXES.

One of the biggest tax breaks in years has come along, and it's waiting for you, at Hancock Bank. It's the Individual Retirement Account—and it just may be the only real weapon you have to beat back inflation and save for your retirement.

Cut your taxes two ways.

IRAs have been around for a while now, but effective January 1st, sweeping new changes make them more attractive than ever.

With the new rules, now anyone with earned income can open an IRA, whether already covered by a pension plan or not. And the annual maximums you can contribute to an IRA have changed, too. Beginning in January, individuals can contribute up to $2,000 (up to $2,250 for yourself and non-working spouse). And if you both work, the ceiling goes up to $4,000.

Here's the best part. The full amount you contribute each year to your IRA is tax-deductible. And all the money in your IRA, including interest, is tax-deferred until you begin withdrawing it, when you'll likely be in a lower tax bracket.

Tax-deferred savings grow faster.

The money that stays in your IRA account that would have gone to taxes makes a dramatic difference in how your nest egg grows. For example, if you deposited $2,000 every year to your IRA for the next 30 years, that $60,000 will balloon to over $380,000, based on a conservative 10% annual compounded return.

Get the facts.

To find out how to get in on this monumental tax break, stop by any Hancock Bank office. We'll show you how to cut your taxes the rest of your life, with the tax-cut of a lifetime.

REAL VIEWS ON REAL ESTATE

UNDERSTAND TAX LAW BEFORE YOU SELL

QUESTION: I have heard that changes were made in the new tax law regarding the selling of one's home. What provisions would affect me when I sell? O.N. Brookhaven ANSWER: Dear O.N. As you know, it has been the policy of the federal government to encourage home ownership. Two provisions of the tax law make it less expensive to buy and sell one's home. One provision permits a rollover, or deferral, of capital gains taxes on profits made on the sale of a principal residence. The second allows a forgiveness of $125,000 in capital gains taxes for taxpayers 55 years or older who sell their principal residence.

If a taxpayer sells a principal residence, recognition of the gain can be postponed if the taxpayer purchases another principal residence of equal or greater value within 24 months of the contract date of the sale of the first principal residence. If the new house costs less than the first house, the taxpayer may be responsible to a tax on the capital gain.

Taxpayers who are 55 years or older are given a once-in-a-lifetime relief of $125,000 in the gain received from the sale of their principal residence. To qualify, a taxpayer must be at least 55 years old on or before the date of the sale. The house must have been the principal residence in at least three of the five years preceding the sale. If married, only one spouse must be 55 years, but both must join in making the election. If filing separately, each spouse is only allowed half the exclusion, or $62,500.

There are other more technical provisions which may require consultation with an attorney or tax accountant for an understanding of how the law applies in the situation of any particular individual.

QUESTION: I recently saw on TV where a builder was selling new homes without the land. The report said the land was being leased. Why was this being done? B.B. Jackson

ANSWER: Bear B.B. In recent years high interest rates and increased building costs have kept more and more people from buying homes. As a result, builders and lenders have developed means by which would-be buyers could qualify for a loan even during times such as we are facing today. However, even with the numerous innovative financing techniques currently available, home purchasers are still faced with the problem of how to pay for a house and lot that continue to go up and up in price. One solution being tried by some builders throughout the country is a residential ground lease. A ground lease separates the ownership of the house from the ownership of the land. In other words, you buy the house and lease the land.

Several tax law changes have been made to encourage individuals to save more money for their future. These changes made more people eligible for tax-shelter programs.

All-saver tax-exempt savings certificates are designed to encourage more personal savings, and these certificates will be offered until December 31, 1982.

They are one-year certificates available in denominations of $500 or more from banks, savings and loan associations, and credit unions. They pay interest at rates no higher than 70 percent of the rate of one-year U.S. Treasury bills.

The first $1,000 in interest earned on these certificates is exempt from federal income tax; married couples may earn $2,000 of tax-free interest. To realize the maximum tax-free interest, however, requires a large investment, and those in the 30 percent or higher income tax bracket are likely to benefit from the all-saver certificates.

Money Talk

With extensive use of credit cards, billing errors are going to happen. Billing errors occur for a number of reasons:

Several days will elapse between the time your statement is prepared and the day you receive it. Check the billing date—the payment may not have been received.

Does another person in your family charge on your credit account? You may not have a record of their charges.

—A returned check (overdraft, unsigned, etc.) can cause discrepancies.

—It is possible that a payment is lost in the mail. With a lost or stolen credit card, you are liable for up to $50 for each card until you notify the company.

What can the consumer do if he or she gets an incorrect bill? Notify the store immediately and tell them of your complaint. Make a note of the person with whom you spoke. Do not pay for any part of a bill for merchandise that you have not received.

How can a consumer help to prevent incorrect billing? —Watch while the salesperson fills out the sales ticket.

—Check to be sure the total is placed in the appropriate location and that addition and multiplication are accurate.

—Save duplicate sales slips so that you can check your bills against them.

—Know when the billing dates are and mail your payments in plenty of time to

If you're planning any redecorating this spring, don't forget to shop the South Central Bell PhoneCenter. You'll find telephones to suit any decor or mood. Like the Country Junction® phone, pictured here. It works like a modern wall phone—the mouthpiece and earpiece are combined in the handset—but it has the looks of the original 1913 wall set.

It is made of solid oak with antiqued nickel finish on the metal parts. Only $265* with rotary dial. See the Country Junction phone and all the other phones and phone services available now at the Bell PhoneCenter.

Effective immediately, you can call the South Central Bell Residence or Business Service Center between 9:30 and 4:30 Monday through Friday. The Service Center number is listed in the front section of the phone directory and is also on your telephone bill. The new hours do not apply to toll-free numbers.

*When you buy a Country Junction phone, you own the handset and the base. The sets are registered with Bell and are covered by a one-year limited warranty, a copy of which is available without charge. See your nearest South Central Bell office.
